Dear Mr. Raghavachar,

You know that the Silver Jubilee of the Bank of Mysore is fixed for 2nd December 1938, and His Highness the Maharaja has graciously consented to preside on the occasion.

It is but natural that the Managers of all our Branches, about 20 in number, should be present during the occasion to receive Shields on behalf of their respective Branches. Unless they have a holiday on that day, the business of the Bank will be dislocated.

Further, that being the second day of the month the business even in the Head Office will be rather heavy, when all will be engaged in making arrangements for the occasion.

I shall, therefore, feel obliged if you will kindly move the Government to declare Friday the 2nd December 1938 as a public holiday under the Negotiable Instruments Act.

Thanking you in anticipation,

Yours sincerely,

A.N. Raghavachar, Esq., M.A.,
